NOTED MISSIONARY IS OFFICIALS INDORSE HERE FOR G. A. R. CAMP FIRE PREVENTION DAY

Dr. Thomas D. Christy in Washington After Braving Many Terrors With Armenians.

the annual encampment was Dr. Thomas D. Christy, American missionary to Tarsus, Asia Minor, the birthplace of St. Paul.

Dr. Christy, a hale, hearty, and jolly a "Dis survivor of the First Minnesota Artillery, of the Army of the Tennesses, called upon Col. John McElroy's today and announced his intention of participating in the big parade and the reunion of his corps. The missionary told a wealth or stories of his experinces in Asia Minor, and recalled a number of civil war incidents, over which the two veterans laughed beartilly.

Dr. Christy, who was stationed in Asia Minor for many years, recited harrowing stories of massacres of Armenians and others by the Turks, lie witnessed soveral massacres and narrowing stories of the state of the st rowly escaped death himself on several occasions. His son-in-law perished in one of the massacres, and Dr. Christy helped to bear the body from the field in which he was slain.

the field in which he was slain.

Tentative arrangements include the isguance of a proclamation designating a certain date as "fire prevention day," and a parade of fire apparatus and floats. It has also been suggested that all apparatus be inspected on that day with a view to making necessary repairs, and that fire drills be held in the schools, factories, and other places where such drills are established.

tablished.

Lectures in the public schools by representatives of the fire department on fire prevention will be delivered and statistics showing the annual preventable loss will be reviewed. Effort will be to have all proprietors of buildings remove inflammable rubbish accumulations. It is expected that Federal officials will co-operate and that all Government buildings cleared of accumulations of waste paper and like material.

NEW COURSES AT G. W. UNIVERSITY

Record Enrollment Looked For. Several Changes Made in the Faculty.

A survey of the registrations at George Washington University causes officials of the institution to anticipate a record enrollment for the collegiate year, which starts September 29. The registration last year was Extensive additions to equipment have been made in the physics, chemistry, and electrical laboratories. Many changes in the faculty and a large number of new graudate and student assistants have been appointed. Delos H. Smith, B. S., has been appointed instructor in architecture. William H. Halsey has been made instructor in mechanical engineering and will give a new course on heating and ventilating. and ventilating

MANY CONFEDERATES COMING TO REUNION

As further evidence that "the war is ever" and the wounds inflicted in '61-'65 have healed or are fast healing, many Confederate veterans have written letters to the citizens' committee and Col. John McElroy expressing their intention to be present at the G. A. R. encampment which begins here September 27. A large number of Confederate survivors have voiced regret over their inability to attend the encampment, saying they realized their filness or saying they realized their *iliness or business engagements would cheat them out of a good time with one-time enemies, but now stanch friends and brother Americans.

Colonel McElroy today made public the following letter from a Confederate veteran, who was in Wasington during the grand review of 1865, and who will witness the parade on Wednesday, September 29: "Dear Colonel: "When the Union army passed up the

I had been discharged from Point Lookout prison but a few days, and I believe I am one of the few Confederates, if not the only one, that was in Washington at that time that will be here to witness many of the same men pass in review at the coming encampment, and I wish to say that it will be one of my greatest please. that it will be one of my greatest pleas-that it will be one of my greatest please and recollections.

"I love the life of a soldier and all things connected with it. and while the boys in blue and gray differed materially as to why they were soldiers, let it be said they were soldiers and true American soldiers, and irrespective of the cause espoused by either the blue or the gray, their hearts were in the right place, and a helping hand was always extended to the vanguished with that mobility of soul that characterized the true brave soldier of both armies. Now that our differences have been healed let us leave to our children a heritase and the consolation of knowing their fathers fought for a cause near and dear to them as they saw it.
